Dr. Hugo Summa spent a couple of days in the Valley last week. He likes the Valley, and the Valley returns the good feeling. May he live long to enjoy his summer home here.

Conductor J. V. Webb is again quite sick at his home in St. Louis. Wm. Hall, another long time conductor, has been confined to his home for some time, suffering with heart trouble.

The Boston-New York base ball games have received much attention from the local fans the past week. The fact that Chas. Tesreau, a St. Francis river boy, is a prominent figure in the contest, adds to the local interest.

After two weeks' work the well being drilled on Arcadia Heights has reached a depth of 130 feet. Every inch has been solid rock, and B. Wilson, who has charge of the drilling, says it is the hardest rock he ever encountered.

Mr. Nipper, the Republican nominee for Congress, delivered a speech at the courthouse last Thursday. He made a long and painful Republican harangue, but failed to state whether he was a standpatter or progressive.

Mr. W. A. Shelton of Mann Tuesday sent us a monster pumpkin. It weighs just fraction over 51 pounds and is a fine specimen. We anticipate some delicious pumpkin pies, and we have a fondness for pumpkin pies.

Jos. A. Reyburn is the recipient of a cane from Cork, Ireland, brought and presented him by Mr. W. E. Graves of Des Arc. Joe is mighty proud of his present and will have it suitably engraved on his next visit to the city.

Dr. Marshall reports the arrival of a beautiful baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Downey, Monday morning, October 14, 1912, at five o'clock. All are well and our genial and popular station agent is stepping mighty high.

The street and alley crossings are the crown to the sidewalk improvement, and we are glad to see them being put in without delay. It will soon be no longer apposite to our city to sing—

"Den hoe it down and scratch your grabbel, For Jordan am a hard road to travel."

S. L. Ryan, an old time conductor on the Iron Mountain, died at his home, near St. Louis, last Friday. The deceased was 66 years of age and was in the employ of the railroad company 35 years or more. The remains were taken to De Soto for interment.

As we go to press we learn of the death of Mrs. Lanpher, wife of Mr. Geo. W. Lanpher, Sr., of this city, which occurred at 5 A. M. this morning. Mrs. Lanpher, with her husband, have made their home in this city for years, and news of her death will be received on every hand by sad hearts. The deceased was 74 years, 1 month and 12 days old. Funeral services will be held from Christian Church, Friday at 3:00 P. M.—Fredericktown Democrat-News.

A negro orator was here Monday night to instruct the "faithful" as to how they should vote in the coming election. Wonder why the local statesmen didn't arrange for their colored brother to make speeches throughout the county in behalf of the grand old party.

Summer and late fall were both demonstrated in the weather last week. Friday was warm to perspiration, but after nightfall the thunder wagon rolled, the lightning played, and soon the rain came down in earnest. Next morning fires were necessary to comfort.

Last Saturday—the occasion of the fall opening at the Lopez store—was a big day at big store. All day long Manager Ringo and his assistants were busily employed looking after the wants of the visitors. The Lopez store added another laurel to its wreath.

If any one desires to demonstrate the comfort of granite, let him in rainy weather walk up the west side of Main street. There is a space between the Schwab and Gilliam residences yet unpeaved, and it furnishes a contrast between ground and granite old that is decidedly convincing.

Attorney-General Major, Democratic Candidate for Governor, at the Court-House, Ironton, Thursday Evening, October 17, at 7:30. All are invited to come out and hear him discuss affairs of State.

Died—At his residence, Bellevue Thursday, October 10, 1912, James M. Logan, in his 79th year. He was an old and respected citizen, and his funeral the succeeding Sunday was very largely attended. The body was laid to rest in the Presbyterian Cemetery, Caladonia. A fitting memorial will appear next issue.

I note that Dr. J. A. Eaton of Belgrade has been nominated for Representative by the Democrats of Washington county. It is an excellent choice. He is a man of attainment, a citizen identified with the welfare of Washington county, and with such a man as Democrats may well delight to honor. Success to him!

Mrs. Adeline Lucinda Omohundro, relict of the late J. T. Omohundro, died at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Adrian Steel, in Ironton, Monday, October 14, 1912, aged 58 years, 5 months and nine days. The remains were taken to De Soto, the deceased's former home, for interment. The bereaved have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

Miss Mary P. Weare of St. Louis will open a Music School at the residence of Mrs. F. M. Davis, one block west of Post Office, Saturday morning, October 19, from 9:30 to 11:30. Miss Weare will be at home at the above address every afternoon where she will be glad to explain a new method of music instruction devised by herself along the most modern methods.—Adv.

Rev. W. T. Street, who has been at Bloomfield most of the time for the past six weeks, where his wife was seriously ill at the home of her father, has resumed his studies at Carleton College and his duties as pastor of the Methodist church in Bonne Terre, Mrs. Street being now much improved in health. A fine boy made his advent in the family of Mr. Street recently.—Bonne Terre Register.

Mr. T. A. Conrad came to the valley Monday after a week in St. Louis. Mr. Conrad came near being seriously hurt by his automobile one day last week. While he was cranking the machine the car started and he had to move lively to keep from being run over. The car was damaged to the extent of $150. This was pretty hard luck, too, as the machine was just a few days out of the shop after extensive repairs.

It is to be hoped that there will be a full turn-out at the meeting at the school house, Arcadia, Friday evening this week. It will be for the purpose of devising ways and means for the building of a granite walk between Ironton and Arcadia. To this work the Business Men's League has subscribed one hundred dollars, and all property holders along the way will no doubt liberally respond to request for help. But the matter interests not only property holders; all who traverse the road between the two towns are immediately concerned. There ought to be no question as to the early construction of the footway.

Do not forget the Teachers' Association, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It promises to be one of the best meetings ever held in the county. Dr. J. H. Coursault of the Missouri University, will address the teachers on Thursday afternoon at the public school building. He is an able speaker and we want you to hear him. Rev. Joel T. Mitchell will be with us Friday morning. Prof. George Melcher, representative of the State Department, and Prof. R. S. Douglas of the Cape Girardeau Normal School, will address the teachers at the public school building Friday afternoon. Prof. Douglas will deliver an address at the Academy of Music, Friday evening at 7:30. He is a very clever speaker and you will enjoy hearing him. All of our sessions are free and the citizens and patrons have a cordial attention. Come, and bring your friends with you.

Ironton, Washington County, Mo., has a good roads organization—The Concord Township Road Improvement Association, with Jas. P. Ward, President; Dr. J. P. Yeargain, Secretary; J. C. O'Neal, Treasurer; Claude A. Eaton, Chairman of Finance Committee, and a Vice-President from each school district in the township. This is the first organization of its kind in the county, and the good results from it have already been manifested. The road to the St. Francois County line has been surveyed, toward Frankelay, and connection with the Arcadia Auto Highway, is only a matter of a few weeks.

The service given by the railway to this town is by no means satisfactory. We are treated as though this was merely a cross-roads station, with just enough business to put it on the railway map for stop on signal. Yet, viewed from a traffic standpoint, Ironton is one of the best stations between De Soto and Poplar Bluff.

We have no night agent, and this works hardship to the traveler. For instance: a "drummer" leaves the city on No. 9, intending to work Ironton next day. He gets here—when the train is on time—at 8:39, but when he looks about for his luggage, duly checked at Union Station, he finds that it has not been carried on his train and will not arrive until next day at twelve o'clock. Why? Because there is no night agent to receive and care for it. So he loses half a day—and often a full day—for he could, in many instances, otherwise conclude his business here in the morning, and "make" another town in the afternoon. There are other ways in which the absence of the night agent works hardship to the patrons of the railroad, and it seems to me that the economy which eliminates him is a sort of saving at the piggy bank and wasting at the bung. Ironton deserves better treatment; we are friendly to the road and take pride in its every advancement. I speak not only for myself, but for the citizens in general.

The Democratic candidates for county offices and other speakers will address the citizens of Ironton at the following times and places:

Polk School House, Friday, October 18, 7:30 P. M.
Chloride, Saturday, October 19, 2:30 P. M.
Sabula, Saturday, October 19, 7:30 P. M.
Minimum School, Monday, October 21, 7:30 P. M.
Vulcan, Tuesday, October 22, 2:30 P. M.
King School, Tuesday, October 22, 7:30 P. M.
Annapolis, Wednesday, October 23, 2:30 P. M.
Des Arc, Wednesday, October 23, 7:30 P. M.
Sawyer's, Thursday, October 24, 2:30 P. M.
Imboden School, Thursday, October 24, 7:30 P. M.
Bell's School, Friday, October 25, 10 A. M.
Shipp School, Friday, October 25, 7:30 P. M.
Everybody is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

This is from McGinty's paper of last week:

"It is said that Wm. Blue, Democratic candidate for Sheriff of Iron County, has abandoned the contest and gone to work in St. Louis. It is rather an odd thing for a candidate to do, and we do not believe for the authenticity of the rumor, but we do believe he cannot win against his Republican opponent, Hayes R. Summers, who creates a favorable impression everywhere."

Who "said" it? And if you were not willing to "vouch for its authenticity" why did you publish the "rumor"? If such a "rumor" came to your ears, did you not believe it to be false? If you didn't, how childish and unsophisticated you must be! But it is a fair sample of the "clean politics" the Enterprise stands for and has stood for since its first issue: anything, no matter how reprehensible, to further the cause of the power behind it. Mr. Blue is in the race to his finish, and his opponent, as well as McGinty, will realize this fact to their sorrow when the ideas of November come around.

The big "Thomas Flyer" automobile, formerly owned by Gerald Parsons, of Bonne Terre, which was burned near Iron Mountain on Friday night, August 15, 1911, and which was subsequently purchased and rebuilt by the Lead Belt Motor Company, burned a second time, three miles out of Cape Girardeau about nine o'clock on last Friday night. Oliver Edwards left Farmington in the car for Cape Girardeau on last Friday afternoon, expecting to sell the machine there. He had trouble with it when near Libertyville and returned home. The machine was gotten in shape again and the trip resumed, but more trouble was encountered. The engine stopped when Oliver had gotten within about three miles of the Cape. He got out and started to raise the hood, when the flames burst out and in a moment the car was on fire. He jerked off his coat and tried in vain to whip the flames out, but finally he had to grab his suit case and seek a safe distance. The car is now said to be totally destroyed. Fortunately $2,000 in insurance was carried on it, but even at this the loss was a heavy one, as more than this was put into rebuilding it. The car originally cost nearly $6,000.—Farmington News.

The writer had the privilege and pleasure of seeing and hearing the next President of the United States on the occasion of his visit to St. Louis on Wednesday of last week. When Mr. Wilson delivered his address to the Democratic editors at the Jefferson Hotel I was only a few feet distant; had a good view and could hear distinctly every word that was said. Mr. Wilson is a very different looking man from what every picture I had ever seen of him had led me to think he was. I was expecting a tall, thin, stoop-shouldered, nervous, dyspeptic sort of looking man; instead, I saw a robust figure, with complexion as ruddy and fresh as a school boy, and those who shook his hand said it was like unto the grasp of an athlete. His address was not an oratorical effort, but a plain, heart-to-heart, Democratic talk. Every word evidenced the speaker's enthusiasm and sincerity. Other speeches were made by Champ Clark, ex-Governor of Missouri, and Folk. It was a great meeting. But it was only a side show. Then came the big meeting at the Coliseum, where probably 20,000 people had assembled to hear the Democratic nominee. But the crowd was so great that it was impossible for one in five to hear what was said and the impatience and noise of those who could not hear terminated the meeting prematurely. The city was thronged with Democrats. Twenty thousand torch bearers paraded the streets and their enthusiasm knew no bounds. It was a great, great Democratic gathering and augurs well for the party in November. I talked with many people of many creeds and the almost universal opinion was that Woodrow Wilson will be our next president. There is practically no division of sentiment on the question. Boys, I believe, truly, you can get ready for the post-offices. They are coming our way.

St. Louis was crowded and it was impossible to stay at a first class hotel unless you had rooms engaged, which some of us did. I saw quite a number there from our neighboring towns, among them Dave Ball, and Judge Dearling.

Wm. Loyd, one of our best citizens, died here Sunday morning and was buried at the Des Arc cemetery Monday. "Bill," as we called him, was born and raised in Des Arc, and worked on the railroad all his life as section boss. He was married twice; the last to a Miss Ruble. He leaves three boys by his last wife. He raised them right, steady and industrious boys, who will make a good living for their mother.

J. H. Stevenson is well pleased with his automobile (a Ford 25 horse power). He drove to Annapolis in 40 minutes (8 miles). He crossed Big Creek four times. It is high mounted, and will go through 20 inches of water.

At 11:30 all took their departure, lavishing their thanks on the two genial hosts.

Henry Bollinger and family left last Wednesday for Greenville where they will spend a few days with their relatives there, thence on to southern Texas to spend the winter where it is hoped the warm climate will restore Mr. Bollinger's health.

Perhaps one of the largest funeral processions that ever passed through Bellevue was that, last Sunday, of the late J. M. Logan, who departed this life at one o'clock on last Thursday afternoon, after a lingering illness of more than a year. Mr. Logan was a highly esteemed gentleman, an honorable member of the Masonic Lodge, also a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. He has left a wife, one son, one grandson, two grand-daughters, besides a host of relatives and friends. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Newton Smith, after which the remains were taken in charge of by the Masons, and in their beautiful and effective solemnity, they paid their last tribute to their departed brother. The interment took place at the Presbyterian cemetery in Caladonia in the presence of several hundred witnesses.
